I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs Robert A. Pastor, Regina Florence, William Florence, and Scott Van Horn (collectively referred to as “Plaintiffs”) move the Court for an award of attorneys’ fees, costs, and incentive payments as part of this preliminary approved class action settlement (see Dkt. No. 55)

The Settlement (see Dkt. No. 46-5) creates a common fund in the amount of $1,645,000.00. [Settlement Agreement, ¶ 32]. Each Class member to make a claim will receive a pro-rata share of the common fund. [Settlement Agreement, ¶ 69]. Pursuant to the terms of the Settlement Agreement, Class Counsel shall move the Court for an award of attorneys’ fees (“Motion for Fees”) and costs not to exceed 30% of the amount actually contributed to the common fund. [Settlement Agreement, ¶ 53]. Any award of fees and costs approved by the Court shall be paid from the common fund three days after the Effective Date. Court approval of Class Counsel’s attorney’s fees and costs is not a condition of the settlement. [Id.]. Additionally, Plaintiffs seek an incentive award of $5,000 for each named class representative as compensation for their investment of time, effort, and resources on behalf of the Class.

Plaintiffs now seek an order awarding class counsel $411,250 in attorneys’ fees, which represents 25% of the common fund. Plaintiff further requests $19,023.42 in expenses. This requested fee amount is fair and reasonable when compared to the settlement value as well as the lodestar incurred by Class Counsel.

II. LITIGATION AND FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Pastor filed the initial class action complaint on August 21, 2015 asserting violations of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (“FCRA”) 15 U.S.C. § 1681n [See Dkt. No. 1]. Plaintiffs assert that they are former customers of Bank of America, N.A. (“BANA”), who was included as a creditor in each Plaintiffs’

1 bankruptcy in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court, District of Nevada. [Plaintiff's First
2 Amended Complaint, Dkt. No. 48 ("FAC"), ¶¶ 23-24, 40-41, & 52-53. Each
3 Plaintiff learned by reviewing their credit report that BANA had still conducted 4 soft pulls of their credit file after the bankruptcy discharge date for the alleged 5 purpose of conducting account reviews. FAC ¶¶ 29, 46 & 59. Plaintiffs allege 6 that they did not conduct any business nor incur any additional financial 7 obligations with BANA since the date of the discharge of their bankruptcies.
8 FAC ¶¶ 31 & 58. In the First Amended Complaint, Plaintiffs alleged that BANA 9 did not have a permissible purpose to pull their credit file information from their 10 credit reports because they did not give their consent and their debt had been 11 discharged in Bankruptcy on the dates that BANA accessed their credit files.
12 FAC ¶¶ 31, 46 & 59.

13
14 BANA vigorously denies all claims asserted in the Action and denies all 15 allegations of wrongdoing and liability. BANA further maintains that even if 16 the credit pull was impermissible under the FCRA, it was not the result of 17 willful conduct, and so neither Plaintiffs nor the class members were entitled to 18 statutory damages.

19 After completion of some initial discovery, and once the parties were full 20 apprised of the strengths and weaknesses of their respective cases, on July 26,
21 2016 the parties participated in a mediation conducted by Honorable Edward A.
22 Infante (Ret.) that culminated with the filing of the Motion for Preliminary 23 Approval. This Court approved the Motion for Preliminary Approval on July 7, 24 2017. The Agreement, as preliminarily approved by the Court, recognizes the 25 benefit conferred upon the class by Plaintiffs and Class Counsel, and 26 acknowledges Plaintiffs right to seek recovery for their reasonable attorneys'
27 fees and expenses. In this regard, the Agreement provides that Plaintiffs may 28 petition the Court for an award of attorneys' fees up to 30% of the common fund

1 plus reasonable expenses. This requested fee amount is fair and reasonable
 2 when compared to the settlement value as well as the lodestar incurred by Class
 3 Counsel.

4 III. LEGAL STANDARD

5 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provide that “[i]n a certified class action, 6 the court may award reasonable attorneys’ fees and nontaxable costs that are 7 authorized by law or by the parties agreement.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(h). Pursuant
 8 to the terms of the Settlement Agreement in this case, Class Counsel shall move
 9 the Court for an award of attorneys’ fees and costs not to exceed 30% of the 10 amount actually contributed to the common fund. [Settlement Agreement, ¶ 53].

11 Additionally, Plaintiffs are entitled to attorneys’ fees pursuant to the 12 FCRA. The FCRA provides that in “the case of any successful action to enforce 13 any liability under this section,” the consumer shall recover “the costs of the 14 action together with reasonable attorney's fees as determined by the court.” 15 15 U.S.C. § 1681o(a)(2). The purpose of awarding attorney fees under the FCRA is 16 to encourage enforcement of the statute by consumers, acting as “private 17 attorneys general.” See, Bryant v. TRW, Inc., 689 F.2d 72, 79 (5th Cir. 1982)

18 In common fund cases such as this one, courts within the Ninth Circuit 19 have discretion to use one of two methods to determine whether the fee request is 20 reasonable: (1) percentage-of-the-fund; or, (2) lodestar plus a risk multiplier.
 21 Staton, 327 F.3d at 967-68; see also In re Mercury Interactive Corp., 618 F.3d
 22 988, 992 (9th Cir. 2010). “Though courts have discretion to choose which 23 calculation method they use, their discretion must be exercised so as to achieve a 24 reasonable result.” In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 942
 25 (9th Cir. 2011).

26 Class Counsel maintain the request for attorneys’ fees is reasonable based 27 solely upon the extensive arm’s length formal negotiations that serve as 28 independent confirmation of the fairness of the settlement, including attorneys’

1 fees. See Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029. The requested fees are also fully supported
 2 under the percentage-of-the-fund and lodestar approach, which Class Counsel
 3 offer as an additional and optional means of cross-checking the requested fees.

4 IV. ARGUMENT

5 “Once a party has established that he is entitled to attorneys’ fees, ‘[i]t
 6 remains for the [] court to determine what fee is ‘reasonable.’” Hensley v.
 7 Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 433 (1983). Here, as established below and in the 8 attached Declarations of Counsel, payment of the requested attorneys fees is 9 reasonable under the both the percentage-of-the-fund and lodestar approach.

10 1. THE REQUESTED FEES RESULTED FROM AN AGREEMENT 11 REACHED THROUGH ARM’S LENGTH NEGOTIATIONS

12 While attorneys’ fee provisions included in class action settlements are 13 subject to the determination of whether the provision is fundamentally fair,
 14 adequate and reasonable, the Ninth Circuit has opined that “the court's intrusion 15 upon what is otherwise a private consensual agreement negotiated between the 16 parties to a lawsuit must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned 17 judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or 18 collusion between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a 19 whole, is fair, reasonable and adequate to all concerned.” Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 20 1027; citing Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm'n of City & Cnty. of San 21 Francisco, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982); (emphasis added); see also,
 22 Lundell v. Dell, Inc., 2006 WL 3507938 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 5, 2006).

23 In Hanlon, the Ninth Circuit went on to state that where settlement terms,
 24 including attorneys’ fees, are reached through formal mediation, the Court may 25 rely upon the mediation proceedings “as independent confirmation that the fee 26 was not the result of collusion or a sacrifice of the interests of the class.”
 27 Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029. See also Milliron v. T-Mobile USA, Inc., 2009 WL
 28 3345762, at *5 (D.N.J. Sept. 14, 2009) (“the participation of an independent

1 mediator in settlement negotiation virtually insures that the negotiations were 2 conducted at arm's length and without collusion between the parties"); Sandoval
3 v. Tharaldson Emp. Mgmt., Inc., 2010 WL 2486346, at *6 (C.D. Cal. June 15, 4 2010) ("the assistance of an experienced mediator in the settlement process
5 confirms that the settlement is non-collusive"); Dennis v. Kellogg Co., 2010 WL
6 4285011, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 14, 2010) (the parties engaged in a "full-day 7 mediation session," which helped to establish that the proposed settlement was 8 noncollusive). See also 2 McLaughlin on Class Actions, § 6:7 (8th ed.) ("A 9 settlement reached after a supervised mediation receives a presumption of 10 reasonableness and the absence of collusion").

11 Here, and as previously stated in Plaintiffs' Motion For Preliminary 12 Approval of Class Action Settlement and Certification of Settlement Class (Dkt.
13 46, the "Preliminary Approval Motion"), which this Court granted on July 7, 14 2017 (Dkt. No. 55), the settlement resulted from extensive arm's length 15 negotiations. Specifically, the Parties attended mediation facilitated by the 16 Honorable Edward Infante (Ret.). As a result of the mediation sessions, and 17 with the experienced guidance of Judge Infante, the Parties agreed to settle this 18 Action, subject to further negotiations and Court approval.

19 Under these circumstances, the Court may give deference to the mediation
20 proceedings and the judgment of the Parties regarding the reasonableness of 21 fees. The arm's length negotiations, especially those before Judge Infante (Ret.),
22 serve as "independent confirmation" of the reasonableness of the settlement's
23 terms on which Plaintiffs based the request for attorneys' fees, costs, and 24 incentive award sought by this Motion. See Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d
25 1011, 1029 (9th Cir. 1998). Additionally, the requested fee is wholly supported 26 by the percentage-of-the-fund and lodestar methods, which the Court may 27 employ as a means of assessing the reasonableness of the requested fee.
28

2. THE REQUESTED FEES ARE REASONABLE, FAIR, AND JUSTIFIED
UNDER THE PERCENTAGE-OF-THE-FUND METHOD

Courts consider a number of factors to determine the appropriate percentage of the fund to awarding as attorneys' fees in a common fund case including: (a) the results achieved; (b) the risk of litigation; (c) the skill required and the quality of work; (d) the contingent nature of the fee; and, (e) awards made in similar cases. Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1047, 1048-1050 (9th Cir. 2002).

The "benchmark" percentage for attorney's fees in the Ninth Circuit is 25% of the common fund with costs and expenses awarded in addition to this amount. Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1047. "However, in most common fund cases, the award exceeds that [25%] benchmark."<sup>1</sup> In re Omnivision Techs., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1047 (N.D. Cal. 2007) (citing In re Activision Sec. Litig., 723 F. Supp. 1373, 1378 (N.D. Cal. 1998)). See also Barbosa v. Cargill Meat Solutions Corp., 297 F.R.D. 431, 448 (E.D. Cal. 2013) ("[t]he typical range of acceptable attorneys' fees in the Ninth Circuit is 20 percent to 33.3 percent of the total settlement value"). "[A]bsent extraordinary circumstances that suggest reasons to lower or increase the percentage, the rate should be set at 30%." Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1048, citing In re Activision Sec. Litig., 723 F.Supp. at 1378.

Attorneys' fees are often paid from the common fund, thereby reducing class members' recovery, as is this case here. Class Counsel's request for attorneys' fees in the amount of $411,250 equates to 25% of the $1,645,000 Settlement Fund, which is reasonable considering the Ninth Circuit's benchmark and more recent precedent, as well as the risks and results obtained in this Settlement. This fee request is unopposed by Bank of America. Also, the

1 Settlement Class Members were adequately apprised that Class Counsel would be
2 seeking up to 30% of the Settlement Fund in attorneys' fees in the class notice.

3 In addition, the fee request is fully supported by the factors enunciated in 4 Vizcaino including: (a) the results achieved; (b) the risk of litigation; (c) the skill
5 required and the quality of work; (d) the contingent nature of the fee; and, (e)
6 awards made in similar cases.

7 a. CLASS COUNSEL HAVE OBTAINED EXCELLENT RESULTS
8 FOR THE CLASS IN COMPARISON TO AWARDS MADE IN 9 SIMILAR CASES

10 The results obtained for the class are generally considered to be the most 11 important factor in determining the appropriate fee award in a common fund case.
12 See Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 435 (1983); Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d
13 at 1046; see also Federal Judicial Center, Manual for Complex Litigation, §
14 27.71, p. 336 (4th Ed. 2004) (the "fundamental focus is on the result actually 15 achieved for class members") (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(h) committee note).
16 Standing alone, this factor supports Class Counsel's fee request.

17 The Settlement secured by Plaintiffs and Class Counsel provides a
18 superior recovery for Settlement Class Members as compared to similar FCRA
19 cases, despite the uncertainty of recovery in FCRA impermissible pull class 20 actions. The Agreement provides for $1,645,000 in recovery for the 21 approximately 580,000 Settlement Class Members. After deducting attorneys'
22 fees and costs, a service awards to Plaintiff, and costs of notice and claims
23 administration, every Class Member who makes a timely and valid claim will be 24 entitled to a pro rata distribution of the Settlement Fund.

25 Significantly, the Class Members' anticipated recovery here is greater than the 26 results obtained in other FCRA class action settlements. Only two other FCRA
27 impermissible access account review settlements have been reached in the United 28 States wherein a common fund was created. The first was a smaller case. See King v.

1 United SA FCU, SA-09-CV-0937-NN (W.D. Tex. Final Settlement Approved Oct. 8,
 2 2010, Dkt # 31). The second was the Duncan v. JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. case
 3 where the court agreed to an $8.75 million settlement amounting to about $1.00 per 4 class member. Duncan v. JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. W.D. Tex. Case No. 5:14-cv-
 5 00912-FB. In this case, the cash payment available to class members in this settlement
 6 is significantly greater per person than the Duncan case and is approximately $3.05 per 7 class member.

8 All other known class action account review cases that have settled have 9 provided non-cash relief, including short term credit monitoring, credit scores, or other 10 “coupon-type” relief. See, e.g., Barel v. Bank of America, 255 F.R.D. 393, 402 (E.D.
 11 Pa. 2009) (credit report monitoring); Nienaber v. Citibank, No. Civ. 04-4054 (S.D.)
 12 (credit report monitoring); Perry v. FleetBoston Corp., 229 F.R.D. 105, 110 (E.D. Pa.
 13 2005) (two credit reports and scores); Keener v Sears, 03-cv-1265 (C.D. Cal) (Coupon
 14 for Sears store products).

15 b. THE RISKS OF LITIGATION SUPPORT THE REQUESTED
 16 FEES

17 “The risk that further litigation might result in Plaintiffs not recovering at 18 all, particularly a case involving complicated legal issues, is a significant factor in 19 the award of fees.” Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1046-47; see also Vizcaino, 20 290 F.3d at 1048 (risk of dismissal or loss on class certification is relevant to 21 evaluation of a requested fee).

22 In litigating this matter, Plaintiffs have identified significant burdens that 23 each Class Member would bear in the event that Plaintiffs and BANA’s 24 settlement is not approved. These challenges include the difficulties in 25 determining whether BANA’s actions in obtaining the credit report were 26 negligent and/or willful and what actual damages, if any, were sustained by class
 27 members. These significant risks make the global class settlement obtained by 28 Plaintiffs all the more beneficial to the Class Members while also providing

1 finality for BANA.

2 It is possible that the issue of whether BANA acted negligently or 3 willfully will have to be determined on a case-by-case basis. As discussed
4 above, each class member will have to prove whether BANA acted negligently
5 or willfully when BANA accessed that class member's credit report. Each class
6 member would have to prove what level of involvement BANA had in the class
7 member's bankruptcy and what level of knowledge BANA had that the account
8 in question had been discharged through bankruptcy. This would be extremely 9 time-consuming for the class member, BANA, and especially for the court 10 system.

11 Additionally, all previous settlements reached on FCRA impermissible
12 access account review were prior to the Supreme Court's ruling in Spokeo Inc. v.
13 Robins, 136 S. Ct. 1540, 194 L. Ed. 2d 635 (2016). Therefore, if this case were 14 to proceed, Plaintiffs would have to prevail over Defendant's challenges
15 regarding standing. Consequently, the risks of continued litigation not only 16 depicts the high degree of results obtained for the Class, but also further support 17 the reasonableness of the requested fees.

18 c. THE SKILL REQUIRED AND QUALITY OF WORK
19 PERFORMED SUPPORT THE REQUESTED FEES

20 The "prosecution and management of a complex [] class action requires 21 unique legal skills and abilities" that are to be considered when evaluating fees.
22 Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1047. Class Counsel are experienced class action
23 litigators who have been appointed "class counsel" in numerous consumer class
24 actions. Class Counsel have successfully prosecuted numerous complex consumer
25 class actions, and have secured noteworthy recoveries for those classes. See
26 Declaration of Joshua B. Swigart ("Swigart Decl."), ¶¶ 13-19; Kazerounian
27 Decl. ¶¶ 13-21; see also Declaration of David J. McGlothlin ("McGlothlin
28

Decl.”), ¶¶ 13-19. Class Counsel’s proven track record demonstrates not only the quality of work performed, but also the skill required to successfully prosecute large complex class actions.

In the present case, Class Counsel performed significant factual investigation prior to bringing the action, conducted extensive written discovery, and took a Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(b)(6) confirmatory deposition. Class Counsel participated in protracted negotiations including a mediation before Judge Infante (Ret.), which ultimately secured a nationwide settlement for the benefit of the Class. Kazerounian Decl., ¶ 5.

FCRA class action litigation is often complex. In addition to keeping themselves apprised of pertinent case law and agency rulings, Mr. Kazerounian and Mr. Swigart have lectured on consumer law issues on several occasions. See Kazerounian Decl., ¶¶ 22-38; Swigart Decl., ¶ 20. Thus, Class Counsels’ skill and expertise reflected in the relatively prompt and significant Settlement, supports the requested fees.

d. CLASS COUNSELS’ UNDERTAKING OF THIS ACTION ON A CONTINGENCY-FEE BASIS SUPPORTS THE REQUESTED
FEES

The Ninth Circuit has long recognized that the public interest is served by rewarding attorneys who undertake representation on a contingent basis by compensating them for the risk that they might never be paid for their work. In re Washington Pub. Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 19 F.3d at 1299 (“Contingent fees that may far exceed the market value of the services if rendered on a non-contingent basis are accepted in the legal profession as a legitimate way of assuring competent representation for Plaintiffs who could not afford to pay on an hourly basis regardless of whether they win or lose”); Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1051 (courts reward successful class counsel in contingency cases “for taking risk of nonpayment by paying them a premium over their normal hourly rates”).

1 Class Counsel prosecuted this matter on a purely contingent basis while 2 agreeing to advance all necessary expenses knowing that Class Counsel would
3 only receive a fee if there were a recovery. See Kazerounian Decl., ¶ 4; Swigart
4 Decl., ¶ 4; McGlothlin Decl., ¶ 4. In pursuit of this litigation, Class Counsel have 5 spent considerable outlays of time and money by, among other things, (1)
6 investigating the action; (2) coordinating and consolidating other putative class
7 actions into this single action; (3) conducting extensive discovery; (4) negotiating
8 the settlement; (5) overseeing administration of the Settlement; and (6)
9 responding to Class Member inquiries. Class Counsel expended these resources
10 despite the risk that Class Counsel may never be compensated.

11 Plaintiff's counsel here have incurred $19,023.42 in costs and spent 520.4
12 hours litigating this action. Kazerounian Decl., ¶¶ 7-9; Swigart Decl. ¶¶ 7-9;
13 McGlothlin Decl., ¶¶ 7-9; McBride Decl., ¶¶ 7-9. Thus, Plaintiff's counsels'
14 "substantial outlay, when there is a risk that none of it will be recovered, further 15 supports the award of the requested fees" in this matter. Omnivision, 559 F.
16 Supp. 2d at 1047.

17 As articulated above, the percentage-of-the-fund method is the preferred
18 and most widely used method for determining attorneys' fees in a common fund
19 case. The requested fees are fully supported by the factors enunciated by Vizcaino
20 and is commensurate with the excellent results obtained for the Class and is 21 comparable or in excess of awards in other FCRA cases, namely Duncan v.
22 JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A..

23 While the requested fees are fully supported by the percentage-of-the-fund
24 method, it should again be noted that the application of the percentage-of-the-fund
25 method is optional and may be applied at the Court's discretion. In addition, the 26 Court may also apply the lodestar method as another optional means of cross-
27 checking the requested fees.

3. THE REQUESTED FEE IS REASONABLE, FAIR, AND JUSTIFIED
UNDER THE LODESTAR METHOD

A court applying the percentage-of-the-fund method may use the lodestar method as a “cross-check on the reasonableness of a percentage figure.” Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050. A cross-check, however, is optional. See Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476, at *48 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 26, 2007) (finding that “where the early settlement resulted in a significant benefit to the class,” there is no need “to conduct a lodestar cross-check”). If the Court chooses to perform such a cross-check in this matter, it will confirm that an approximately 25% of $1,645,000 common fund, or $411,250 in attorneys fees, is reasonable. Primary reliance should be placed on the percentage-of-the-fund method in common fund cases such as this one. See In re Rite Aid Corp. Securities Litigation, 396 F.3d 294, 307 (3d Cir. 2005)) (“the lodestar cross-check does not trump the primary reliance on the percentage of common fund method”).<sup>2</sup>

The first step in the lodestar-multiplier approach is to multiply the number of hours counsel reasonably expended by a reasonable hourly rate. Hanlon, 150

<sup>2</sup> See Silber and Goodrich, Common Funds and Common Problems: Fee Objections and Class Counsel's Response, 17 RevLitig 525, 534 (1998) (the percentage approach avoids numerous drawbacks of the lodestar approach and is preferable because “the attorneys will receive the best fee when the attorneys obtain the best recovery for the class. Hence, under the percentage approach, the class members and the class counsel have the same interest — maximizing the recovery of the class.”). See also In Re Activision Securities Litigation, 723 F. Supp. 1373, 1378-1379 (N.D. Cal. 1989) (holding that the percentage method is preferred over the lodestar method and finding it encourages efficiencies and early resolution); In re Omnivision Techs, Inc., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1046 (N.D. Cal. 2008) (“[U]se of the percentage method in common fund cases appears to be dominant.”); Jones v. GN Netcom, Inc. (In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig.), 654 F.3d 935, 942 (9th Cir. 2011) (“Because the benefit to the class is easily quantified in common-fund settlements, we have allowed courts to award attorneys a percentage of the common fund in lieu of the often more time-consuming task of calculating the lodestar.”).

F.3d at 1029. Once this raw lodestar figure is determined, the Court may then adjust that figure based upon its consideration of many of the same “enhancement” factors considered in the percentage-of-the-fund analysis, such as: (1) the results obtained; (2) whether fee is fixed or contingent; (3) the complexity of the issues involved; (4) the preclusion of the other employment due to acceptance of the case; and, (5) the experience, reputation, and ability of the attorneys. See Kerr v. Screen Extras Guild, Inc., 526 F.2d 67, 70 (9th Cir. 1975).<sup>3</sup>

4. THE NUMBER OF HOURS EXPENDED ARE REASONABLE

The accompanying declarations of Class Counsel and senior associate attorney set forth the hours of work and billing rates used to calculate their lodestar. Plaintiffs’ attorneys’ hours are summarized below:

PERSON:	RATE:	HOURS:	TOTAL:
ABBAS KAZEROUNIAN	$605	141.1	$85,365.50
JOSHUA SWIGART	$605	87.4	$52,877.00
DAVID MCGLOTHLIN	$450	231.9	$104,355.00
RYAN MCBRIDE	$300	60	$18,000.00
TOTAL:		520.4	$260,597.50

As described in the accompanying declarations, Plaintiffs’ attorneys have devoted a total of 520.4 hours<sup>4</sup> to this litigation thus far, and have a total lodestar

<sup>3</sup> The risk inherent in contingency representation is a critical factor. The Ninth Circuit stresses that “[i]t is an abuse of discretion to fail to apply a risk multiplier when...there is evidence that the case was risky.” Fischel v. Equit. Life Assurance Soc’y, 307 F.3d 997, 1008 (9th Cir. 2002); see also Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., Inc., 2007 WL 221862, at *16 (N.D. Cal. 2007).

1 $260,597.50, which represents a reasonable multiplier of approximately 1.578.
2 See Kazerounian Decl., ¶¶ 7 and 8; Swigart Decl., ¶¶ 7 and 8; McGlothlin Decl.
3 ¶¶ 7 and 8; McBride Decl. ¶¶ 7 and 8.

4 A multiplier of between 4 and 5 in complex cases is not uncommon. See
5 In re Linerboard, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10532, 2004 WL 1221350, at *16
6 (noting that “during 2001-2003, the average multiplier approved in common
7 fund class actions was 4.35”) (citation omitted); In re Beverly Hills Fire
8 Litigation, 639 F. Supp. 915 (E.D. Ky. 1986) (awarding multiplier of 5 for lead
9 counsel); Di Giacomo v. Plains All Am. Pipeline, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25532
10 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 18, 2001) (approving 5.3 multiplier); Steiner v. Am. Broad. Co., 11 Inc., 248 F. App'x 780, 783 (9th Cir. 2007) (approving multiplier of 6.85). As 12 the Ninth Circuit noted in Viczaino v. Microsoft Corp., “courts have routinely 13 enhanced the lodestar to reflect the risk of non-payment in common fund cases.”
14 290 F.3d 1043, 1051 (9th Cir. 2002). In Viczaino, the court analyzed a table of 15 multipliers that had been used in other cases and approved a multiplier of 3.65
16 for that case. Id.

18 The 520.4 attorney hours include additional time that Class Counsel will 19 likely spend going forward in seeking final approval of, and implementing the 20 Settlement, including assisting Class Members with claims and overseeing claims 21 administration, and preparing and filing the motion for final approval of class
22 action settlement. See Kazerounian Decl., ¶ 8 (30 additional hours estimated);
23

24 tasks performed and time expended. See Sablan v. Department of Finance of 25 Com. of Northern Mariana Islands, 856 F.2d 1317 (9th Cir. 1988) (attorney-fee 26 award need not be preceded by an evidentiary hearing when the record and 27 supporting affidavits are sufficiently detailed to provide an adequate basis for 28 calculating the award and the material facts necessary to calculate the award are not genuinely in dispute). Detailed billings are available upon request by the Court.

1 Swigart Decl., ¶ 8 (10 additional hours estimated); McGlothlin Decl. ¶ 8 (30
2 additional hours estimated); McBride Decl. ¶ 8 (10 additional hours estimated).

3 Class Counsel's lodestar with a 1.578 multiplier is therefore reasonable.
4 Class Counsel prosecuted the claims at issue efficiently and effectively, making 5 every effort to prevent the duplication of work that might have resulted from 6 having multiple firms working on this case. In this regard, tasks were reasonably
7 divided among firms to ensure avoiding the replication of work. Further, tasks 8 were delegated appropriately among partners, associate attorneys, paralegals, and 9 other staff. Class Counsel did not include hours incurred by paralegals and other
10 support staff in their fees request. See Kazerounian Decl., ¶ 10 Swigart Decl., ¶
11 10; McGlothlin Decl., ¶ 10; McBride Decl., ¶ 10.

12 5. CLASS COUNSEL'S HOURLY RATES ARE REASONABLE.

14 Similarly, Class Counsels' hourly rates are reasonable. In assessing 15 the reasonableness of an attorney's hourly rate, courts consider whether the 16 claimed rate is "in line with those prevailing in the community for similar services 17 by lawyers of reasonably comparable skill, experience and reputation." Blum v.
18 Stevenson, 465 U.S. 886, 895, n.11 (1994). See also Davis v. City and County of 19 San Francisco, 976 F.3d 1536, 1546 (9th Cir. 1992); and, Serrano v. Unruh, 32
20 Cal. 3d 621, 643 (1982). Class Counsel here are experienced, highly regarded 21 members of the bar with extensive expertise in the area of class actions and 22 complex litigation involving consumer claims like those at issue here. See
23 Kazerounian Decl., ¶¶ 13-39; Swigart Decl., ¶¶ 13-21; McGlothlin Decl., ¶¶ 13-24 26.

25 Mr. Kazerounian is an adjunct professor at California Western School of 26 Law teaching a consumer law course. Both Mr. Kazerounian and Mr. Swigart 27 have been approved for an hourly rate of $605. Kazerounian Decl., ¶ 15; Swigart
28 Decl., ¶ 15. Mr. McGlothlin, a partner at Hyde & Swigart, is also very 1 experienced in litigating consumer cases, including class actions, and seeks an 2 hourly rate of $450. McGlothlin Decl., ¶¶ 13-26.

3 The billing rate for the partners (i.e., Mr. Kazerounian, Mr. Swigart and 4 Mr. McGlothlin) is well within the normal range of fees charged by firms in 5 Southern California for partner work. See Hartless v. Clorox Co., 273 F.R.D.
6 630, 643-44 (S.D. Cal. 2011), aff'd in part, 473 F. Appx. 716 (9th Cir. 2012)
7 (approving hourly rates in the San Diego area of $675-795 for partners, up to 8 $410 for associates, and up to $345 for paralegals); see also POM Wonderful,
9 LLC v. Purely Juice, Inc., 2008 WL 4351842 at *4 (C.D. Cal) (finding partner 10 rates of $750 to $475 and associate rates of $425 to $275 reasonable).

11 Additionally, associate Ryan McBride of Kazerouni Law Group, APC, 12 who has contributed much to this litigation, has significant experience in 13 litigating consumer actions, which justifies his hourly rate of $300. See McBride
14 Decl., ¶¶ 13-19. According to the Court in Shames v. Hertz Corp., 2012 U.S.
15 Dist. LEXIS 158577, *60 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 5, 2012) (“[t]he National Law Journal
16 data reveals that rates at six national defense firms with San Diego offices 17 averaged between $550 and $747 per hour for partners and $346 and $508 per 18 hour for associates.”); Rutti v. Lojack Corp., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 107677, 19
19 Wage & Hour Cas. 2d (BNA) 938, 2012 WL 3151077 (C.D. Cal. July 31, 2012)
20 (approving hourly rates of $650 and $750 in FLRA class action).

21 Therefore, Class Counsels’ hourly rates and combined lodestar of 22 $260,597.50 with a multiplier of 1.578 is a reasonable.

23 6. THE REQUESTED LITIGATION COSTS ARE FAIR AND 24 REASONABLE

25 “Reasonable costs and expenses incurred by an attorney who creates or 26 preserves a common fund are reimbursed proportionately by those class members
27 who benefit from the settlement.” In re Media Vision Tech. Sec. Litig., 913 F.
28 Supp. 1362, 1366 (N.D. Cal. 1996) (citing Mills v. Electric Auto-Lite Co., 396

1 U.S. 375, 391-392 (1970). The significant litigation expenses Class Counsel
2 incurred in this case were necessary to secure the resolution of this litigation. See
3 In re Immune Response Sec. Litig., 497 F. Supp. 2d 1166, 1177-78 (S.D. Cal.
4 2007) (finding that costs such as filing fees, photocopy costs, travel expenses,
5 postage, telephone and fax costs, computerized legal research fees, and mediation
6 expenses are relevant and necessary expenses in class action litigation). Based 7 upon the discussion herein, Class Counsel believe that the costs incurred in this 8 matter are fair and reasonable.

9 Throughout the course of this litigation, Class Counsel had to incur costs
10 totaling $19,023.42 Kazerounian Decl. ¶ 9; Swigart Decl., ¶ 9. These costs were 11 necessary to secure the resolution of this litigation and Class Counsel put forward 12 said costs without assurance that Class Counsel would ever be repaid. Most of 13 the costs were incurred for travel to court hearings, the mediation and 14 depositions.<sup>5</sup>

15 In light of the expenses Class Counsel were required to incur to bring this 16 case to its current settlement posture, the request for (current) costs of $19,023.42
17 is reasonable. Class Counsel will likely incur additional costs as this case moves 18 to the final approval stage.

19 7. THE $5,000 INCENTIVE AWARD SOUGHT FOR THE NAMED
20 CLASS REPRESENTATIVES ARE REASONABLE AND SHOULD BE 21 APPROVED.

22 As the Ninth Circuit has recognized, “named Plaintiffs, as opposed to 23 designated class members who are not named Plaintiffs, are eligible for 24 reasonable incentive payments.” Staton, 327 F.3d at 977; Rodriguez v. West 25 Publishing Corp., 563 F.3d 948, 958 (9th Cir. 2009) (service awards “are fairly 26 typical in class action cases”). Such awards are intended to compensate class
27

---

28 <sup>5</sup> Counsel are willing to provide itemized costs records upon the Court’s request.

1 representatives for work done on behalf of the class [and] make up for financial or
2 reputational risk undertaken in bringing the action.” Id. Small incentive awards,
3 such as those requested here, promote the public policy of encouraging
4 individuals to undertake the responsibility of representative lawsuits.

5 As stated, the Agreement calls for a payment of $5,000.00 to each of the 6 named class representatives as an incentive award for their expenditure of time,
7 effort, and resources in undertaking this action on behalf of the class.

8 On August 21, 2015 (Dkt No. 1), Plaintiff Robert Pastor filed the initial 9 complaint against Defendant Bank of America in this matter. Plaintiffs Scott
10 Van Horn, Regina Florence and William Florence III filed separate putative
11 class claims against Defendant in the U.S. District Court, District of Nevada
12 (case nos. 2:16-cv-00362 & 2:16-cv-00365, respectively.) The parties then 13 entered into a class settlement encompassing all three putative class actions. The 14 parties then consolidated all claims into this case by filing this First Amended
15 Complaint naming all four individuals as plaintiffs and class representatives
16 (See Dkt. No. 44).
17

18 “Incentive awards are not uncommon in class action cases and are within 19 the discretion of the court.” Frank v. Eastman Kodak Co., 228 F.R.D. 174, 187
20 (W.D.N.Y. 2005) (internal quotations omitted). “A powerful basis for separate 21 awards to named plaintiff in class action settlements is the need to reimburse 22 them for specific expenses they have incurred, including out-of-pocket costs of 23 asserting the litigation, the use of leave time in order to attend depositions and 24 other such costs.” Sheppard v. Consolidated Edison Co. of NY, 2002 WL
25 2003206, at*6, n.9 (E.D.N.Y. Aug. 1, 2002). Here, this entire litigation would 26 not have been possible without Pastor’s and the other named plaintiffs’
27 involvement and cooperation with Class Counsel.

28 The $5,000 incentive award amount is more than reasonable and in line with similar incentive awards routinely granted by courts in class action cases. See, e.g., People United for Children, Inc. v. City of New York, 2007 WL 582720, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 26, 2007) (approving class action settlement that called for incentive awards to class action plaintiffs ranging from $10,000 to $15,000); In re Assicurazioni Generali S.p.a. Holocaust Insurance, 2007 WL 601846, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 27, 2007) (awarding each of the named representatives incentive award of $5,000 as part of class action settlement approval); Gross v. Washington Mutual Bank, F.A., 2006 WL 318814, at *6 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 26, 2006) (awarding class plaintiff $5,000 incentive award as part of class action settlement approval).

The $5,000 incentive award, being unopposed, fair and reasonable, and in line with payments awarded in other class actions, should also be approved.

V. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Class Counsel respectfully request that the Court grant Plaintiffs' motion for an award of attorneys' fees in the total amount of $411,250 (25% of the Settlement Fund), litigation costs of $19,023.42, and an incentive or service award in the amount of $5,000 to each of the four Class Representatives.
